Princess Parade

by andlat

She giggled excitedly. It was time for her favorite TV show.
She turned it on just in time for the theme song.

The Costume Box
2024

Chapter 1

Princess Parade

She giggled excitedly. It was time for her favorite TV show. She turned it on just in time for the theme song.

"Princess Parade! Princess Parade!" The TV sang as bright colors filled the screen. "Time for a princess roll call!"

"Elsa!"

"Anna!" Each princess announced herself with a cheery wave.

"Cinderella!"

"Ariel!" That meant the best one was next.

"Uh, um, Max." She giggled seeing her brother's panicked face, looking as ridiculous as ever in a purple gown with enormous puffy sleeves. It was all thanks to her spellwork that he was trapped in Princess Parade.

The rest of the show, she would watch for Max. He was never the main character of the episode, but he would be present in every group scene, dancing with the rest of them during the singalongs and, her favorite part after the theme song, giving the Princess Pledge in unison with the other princesses at the end of the episode. She still had not decided how long she would keep him in there, but she hoped he would be less of a pesky brother and more of a princess once he was free.

"Ooh, this one's my favorite!" She squealed, realizing it was time for the Princess Pajama Party episode. Each princess wore pajamas or a nightie with her face on them. Sure enough, there was Max in his official Disney Princess merch pajamas with his face on them! It never got old!